

STUDENT ASSISTANT /INTERN

We're on the lookout for a Student Assistant (or maybe an intern, if you're looking for an internship for a minimum of 4 months) to help with a variety of tasks on our many projects. You'll function as the office Swiss Army Knife and will therefore work with a great variety of different tasks. That also means that we'll make sure you get to work with everyone from the office, meaning you'll be part of our fantastic team of creatives and you'll be working alongside with our dedicated project managers.

In other words, we need a person with that doesn't shy away from learning new stuff, helping out where it's needed and would like to get an insight to many aspects of the world of advertising. Is that you?

Responsibilities at the office

- Not two days are the same and you thrive in such an environment
- The pace is fast, so you've got a sense of order and are structured by heart
- Projects are never only driven from the office, so having a driver's license is a plus, but not a prerequisite
- Humour on the other hand is a must - or at least it'll make your time at the office a whole lot easier
- A project needs a team effort and no assignment is too small or too complicated for you to take on

Interested? Send us your application and CV no later than 14th of August 2017:
